emergent processes of formation create intensive volatile intricate complex phenomena these processes have come to define our contemporary understanding of the nature of becoming which stands in contrast to established notions of architectural design and authorship the design research of roland snooks is a speculation on the relationship between emergent processes of formation and architectural design intention and explores the strange specificity of an architecture that is drawn out of this interaction this research operates within a larger architectural and cultural concern for complex systems and their role in algorithmic design processes the original methodological territory carved out from this larger milieu is the articulation of a design process in which architectural intention is embedded within emergent processes who gets to say what counts as contemporary art artists critics curators gallerists auctioneers collectors or the public revealing how all of these groups have shaped today s multifaceted definition terry smith brilliantly shows that an historical approach offers the best answer to the question what is contemporary art smith argues that the most recognizable kind is characterized by a return to mainstream modernism in the work of such artists as richard serra and gerhard richter as well as the retro sensationalism of figures like damien hirst and takashi murakami at the same time smith reveals postcolonial artists are engaged in a different kind of practice one that builds on local concerns and tackles questions of identity history and globalization a younger generation embodies yet a third approach to contemporaneity by investigating time place mediation and ethics through small scale closely connective art making inviting readers into these diverse yet overlapping art worlds smith offers a behind the scenes introduction to the institutions the personalities the biennials and of course the works that together are defining the contemporary the resulting map of where art is now illuminates not only where it has been but also where it is going authors focus on a broad spectrum of countries architectures and architects that have developed a design approach closely linked to the building context the concept of context is broad and includes various economic social cultural political and natural aspects in all cases the architects selected in this book have chosen to view context as an opportunity however each architect has considered certain specific aspects of context some have been very attentive to the social context others to material aspects or typological issues and still others to aspects related to political visions or economic factors the analysis critically highlights interesting creative and respectful design approaches towards local conditions such as sustainability in nordic europe climate conscious design in africa and the bottom up sensitivity of india the book s main aim is to retrace through both theoretical arguments and case studies the debate that focuses on politics and the environment thanks to its valuable examples this book strives to make a conscious contribution to establishing a bulwark against the current flattening out processes that architecture is experiencing this book will be of
